SuperChefs partners with Surrey Christmas Bureau during the holidays

To help brighten the spirits of those affected by the COVID-19 crisis, SuperChefs created an exciting new mission this holiday season! We partnered with national, regional and local community organizations to create a SuperChefs holiday kit to continue our mission to help educate youth about where their food comes from and help build their kitchen skills to promote a healthier generation. The kits contain ingredients and supplies to create holiday magic while staying safe in their own homes. Included in the kit are ingredients to facilitate home baking creations, accompanied by online links to SuperChefs interactive step by step cooking and baking videos for families to follow and enjoy. Additional links to videos such as virtual egg farm tours provided by BC Egg Council will add an educational component to the project. To top off the fun, gingerbread house components, decorating supplies and random comical props in the kit will have families compete in the Virtual SuperChefs Gingerbread House Contest. Their challenge will be to include all components and write a back story of their creation. Each family can submit images of their decorated house and story to compete
